History of the Humphrey Program
The Humphrey Program was initiated in 1978 in honor of the late senator and vice president Hubert H. Humphrey. Since then, more than 3,900 fellows have participated. In the 2008-09 year, 163 Humphrey Fellows from 90 countries are placed at 15 universities in the United States. The program is a Fulbright exchange activity with primary funding from the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs. It is administered by:

The Hubert H. Humphrey Fellowship Program

2008-2009

About the Humphrey Program
The Hubert H. Humphrey Fellowship Program brings accomplished mid-career journalists and others from various fields to 15 American campuses for a year of study and professional pursuits. Fellows are selected for their national leadership potential from developing nations in Africa, East Asia and the Pacific, Europe and Eurasia, Near East South and Central Asia, and the Western Hemisphere. The program exposes Fellows to state-of-the-art approaches in their fields, to encourage ties between them and their United States counterparts.

For 16 years Fellows have come to the University of Maryland's Philip Merrill College of Journalism, a leading center for journalism education. Notable faculty encompass both research and professional experience. Each year, hundreds of working journalists participate in professional programs affiliated with the College, including those sponsored by the Knight Center for Specialized Journalism and the Casey Journalism Center for Children and Families. The American Journalism Review, also based at the College, publishes news and analysis of print and broadcast performances on a bi-monthly basis.

The university's central location enables Fellows to draw on the rich resources of the Washington-Baltimore area.
Award-winning journalist Lucinda Fleeson, formerly with the Philadelphia Inquirer, leads the Humphrey program at Maryland. Deputy Director Serap Rada, Ph.D., serves as academic advisor for Fellows.

With guidance from the Humphrey staff, each Fellow undertakes an individualized, non-degree program of academic coursework, professional affiliations, field trips, and consultations with experts.

The Humphrey Fellows in Journalism provide a valuable resource for the College Park community. The Merrill College has proudly hosted 197 Fellows from more than 80 countries over the last 16 years.
